-Once more we are called upon to offer up thanks for the blessings bestowed upon our undeserving heads. Many of the turkeys that gobbled yesterday, will gobble no more. And those turkeys that still live, will gobble out thanks to-morrow, that they were not gobbled down to-day.

-The Turners are fitting up their new hall at the corner of Tenth and Poplar streets, with stage, scenery, footlights, etc., in order to make it a suitable ball for home entertainments. When finished, it will be neat and comfortable, and a very good place for performances of that kind,

—If the weather will permit, it is the intention of the crew of the Boating Association to take a run to Mound City Thursday (to-morrow) morning, previous to putting up their "boots" for the winter. The six oared shell and single skull will be the boats used on the trip. The remains of the d-n printer who set the above item, are at the disposal of his relatives or friends. -There was a very good audience present at the lecture of the Rev. Mr. Gilbert in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening. The subject of the reverend gentleman's lecture was "The State of the Departed," and he handled it with much ease and eloquence, as he does every subject he speaks upon. High praise is accorded Mr. Gilbert for his effort on this occasion.

-The party on the steamer Eckert last night, was one of the most pleasant affairs that has taken place in Cairo for many days. The members of the Boating Association entertained their friends in a manner becoming them as the most hospitable of hosts, and made their guests feel quite at home. To our German triend, Jacob Schneighder, however, we leave the task of describing the pleasure of the evening, in his communication, which we publish this morning.

-At a meeting held by the ladies of the congregation of the Episcopal church, "dake id in," und dot I should fotch me is not yet half in. Such receipts were at the rectory, on Seventh street, on along mine Katrina. You bet me I vas pointed to make preparations for a fair and festival, to be held on the 9th of next month. The affair, we are told, will be und all de rest of dem purty girls, und made a grand one in every respect. To those who contemplate buying Christmas presents, we are requested to say, wait until the fair comes off, as all things suitable for gifts will be sold at the most reasonable prices there.

-A. Jaeckel, of the Thalian saloon, opposite the BULLETIN office, is now prepared to serve up, on short notice, fresh oysters in any style that may be desired. Having a neat, tasty and quiet room, no where one can go and enjoy a dish of the bivalves. On each Sunday afternoon he will spread a sumptuous lunch and will continue the same until further notice. On next Sunday he will treat his patrons to kartoffel pfannenkuchen, (potato pancakes), with cranberry sauce, and he extends a cordial invitation to all to come and partake of the same.

-A couple of negro woman named Hattie Carter and Josie Howard, living up town, who are said to be Christianlike and law-abiding women, when let alone, while walking along the high sidewalk on Commercial avenue, between Twenty-second and Twenty-fifth streets, got into some trouble with a couple of youngsters who "went to pokin' fun at em when they didn't say nothin' to 'em," which made Josie angry, and she pushed one of them off the walk. He lit on his head and shoulders, and put his shoulder blade out of gear, and now the boy's parents and Josie are going to have a law-

-About ten days ago, a man with wife, mother and two children, arrived in this city from Arkansas. They were out of money and in a destitute condition. After wandering about for a day or two, they finally camped near the coal dump in the lower part of the town. The man disappeared after a day two, and the two women, with the children, were left to battle with hunger and cold as best they could. The older woman took sick, and after lingering for several days, died and was buried. The other unfortunate, with her two children, is still dragging through life at the camp. She is sick and helpless, and lives on the food brought her by her children, who go about the city. She is in a most pitiable state, and if any of the good and charitable ladies of our city would be of service to a suffering fellow creature, here is an object on which they may be stow whatever aid they may feel dis-

-The communication signed "Li brary," which appeared in Tun Bullu-As this is a leading article with us, we mean to undersell the cheapest in the suggestions to the ladies of the Cairo Library Association, which the members feel deserve to be as publicly answered as they were made. They now reached such proportions, bas will warrant them in the belief that they may safely enter on the purchase of books for a public library. Other enterprises of this kind in Cairo have falled because these interacted in them were not content to "make haste slowly." It the ladies were to "rent and furnish a room" with a part of their money, and apply the rest to the purchase of books, they would have to content themselves with very modest quarters, very few books and would run, the risk of seeing both slip away from them at no very distant future. The plan proposed by "Library" seems feasible, but hitherto all literary societies in Cairo have failed in it. Guided by the fate of other associations, the Ladies' Library Association has determined to wait with patience until it is strong enough in men. bers and money to start a public library upon a solld, subtantial, permanent basis.

-None should fail to attend the performance at the Atheneum, given by the Cairo Boating Association and the Taylor Literary Club, for the benefit of the Library Association, this evening. The play of Led Astray has been in rehearsal by a number of our most talented ladie and gentlemen, and a fine rendition of it cannot help but follow. They are assisted by the prominent your g comedian, Mr. W. H. Thompson, who has played the character of Hector Placide over one hundred and fifty times, and who will as sume the character this evening. The play will be presented with the following east of characters :
